Alderman Sturrayary—What is this. Mr. President? Hadn't we better wait till the Chief asks us the favor to raise his raisary? This is giving him a large increase for a twelvemonth past without being asked. I am for granting favors when they are requested and I think the Chief's salary is too small. It is $1,000, I believe, but before we raise it it might be referred to a committee who might ask him whether he would accept it. (Langhter.)

Alderman Prox—It has been applied for, and the petition referred to the Committee on Salaries and Officers.

Alderman Oralley—It know our folks are willing it should be raised to that sum.

Alderman Ward—As be has petitioned, we had better stay till we see the petition.

Alderman Sturrayar—I have no doubt "our folks" are willing to make it twenty-five hundred; and I think it should be raised as the west. In fact. a head of a department—I believe head cook and bottle washer, all around—and it so. I am quite willing be should be paid a liberal salary. When I talked to him, he said he thought it ought to be $0.000. I would wait and ask what the committee have agreed to make it.

Alderman Sturrayar—I know—our folks" are the best natured people in the world, but I den't know that they wen't accept a modification. I move it be amended by making it two thousand.

The same day, my attention was called to the article by Mr. Snebly, who appeared highly incensed, and said he felt himself compiled to have some satisfaction therefor. I remonstrated with him, as did others, advising him to do as I should donamely, to give it no consideration whatever, and by no means to have any controversy or altercation with Beker in the office, which he promised to do. Snortly after, Mr. Beker entered the court room and the assault was committed. I instantly ordered Mr. Snebly into custody, and directed Mr. Baker to make an affidavit; and the cierk, who was beside me. was directed to make out the necessary papers. Instead of following my instructions, however. Baker commenced an assaut upon the other party with an umbrells. I then ordered both parties to be removed from the court room, when, without my knowledge, and out of my sight, (as I was informed.) they came sgain in collision in one of the side rooms. Hearing the noise, I repaired at once to the room, and found they had been separated; and I then insisted on Mr. Baker making his complaint, which he did and I held Mr. Snebly to bail in the sum of $500, to answer the charge at the Court of General Sessions.

There are the facts, and the whole spirit of your article upon the subject rests upon the point, that I was consurable for not instantly committing Mr. Snebly for contemp. It is probable that this course would have been pursued by me had not Mr. Baker presumed. (after being directed to make his complaint.) to take the affair in his own hands, and became an agreesor himself; and it is still further probable that if the affary had not been continued in the outer room. Chase, had been negotiating with a mercentille firm engaged in the grocery lussices in Duane etrect, and proposed to be admitted into that firm on putting in a capital of $10.000.

Mr. Terrill was consulted in this matter, to whom Chase represented he had a man, by the name of Franklik Mead who would advance the $10,000, but that he was at present abeaut from the city in Boston. Therefore, in order to complete the contract of co-partnership in the said firm it would be necessary, before perfecting the papers. that a tender of the $10,000 chould be made, and wished Mr. Terrill to some Chase the money, which was conveyed to the low office of Mr. Lamereaux, No. 5 Cliy Hail place, where all the parties concerned had met for the purpose of perfecting the papers. feet from the front wall; they rested one end on the girder, and the other on the lexington avenue gable end; as fer as I remember, the uprights were under the coatre of the girder.

At this point of the inquiry, Coroner Ives adjourned the investigation until nine o'clock this morning, when it will be resumed at the same room (No. 8) in the City Hall.

We wish to state that, in our report of the fail of this building, we emitted to notice the gailant and humane exettions of the members of Red Jacket Hose company, No. 45, for the recovery of the bodies, and the relief of the survivors. This the company may attribute entirely to the great confusion and excitement prevailing when our reporter arrived upon the spot. The conduct of the men was most preseworthy.

The Murray Street CATASTROPHE, IN NOVEMBER.

Coroner Ives has concluded his investigation as to the cause of the late accident in Murray street, where, by the falling of the corace stones of a new building, two men, named Melataggart, received serious injuries, of which one, Patrick, died in a few days after. The inquest was commenced at the residence of the deceased man, No. 91 Mulberry strict, upon the 22d ult, and was adjourned for want of the attendance of winnesses. It has been frequently postpomed since, owing to the liness of one of the jury. Leland Thuuston, foremun of the building Eleazer Shaw, a mason. Edward Carey, an apprendice, and Howard Sawtell a bricklayer, all employed at the time around the building, were examined. None of them seemed to clearly explain the immediate cause of the accident, but they agreed in attributing bisme to the persons having chargo of the stone work. After deliberation the jury returned the following verdect:—The said Patrick M'Integgart came to his death by highries received on the 19th ultimo, caused by the failing of the cornice of the store No. 11 Murray street, then in prepress of being isid. The jury are of the opinion that the accident was the result of culpable negligance on the part of the man mentioned in th
